Today a Reader, Tomorrow a Leader

Reading with young children is proven to make a big difference to their future success. Children who grow up with books in their home do better in school and life, and the number of books in the home directly impacts their future achievements.

One study found that in low-income neighborhoods there is only one book for every 300 children!

Inspired by her father’s inability to read and write, Dolly Parton started the Imagination Library in her home county. So far, this program has gifted more than 130 million books since 1995.

Through Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library, kids in Stark County can receive a free book every month until they’re five years old!

Children involved in this program will have 60 books in their personal library by the age of 5!

Ohio First Lady DeWine saw the impact of the Imagination Library and wanted every child across Ohio to have that same opportunity. In 2019, she established Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library of Ohio, that matches funds to offset the cost of the program for local Imagination Library affiliates.

Imagine if there was a way to level the playing field for all children.

In the struggle to provide necessities like food, housing and paying bills, parents with low incomes have less home stability, less time to read to their children, and little to no funds for personal libraries.

Books provide opportunities for children to dream more, learn more, and be more!

In fact, a child who grows up impoverished is SIX times more likely to drop out of high school.

Let’s give them a fair start.

After the city of Cincinnati began their partnership with Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library, Kindergarten Readiness assessments rose from 42.9% to 58.3% among participating children in just three years.

We believe investing in our youth will have a lasting impact in our community.
